

I Owe My Life to PERUNA

Mr. McKinley's letter brings cheer to all who may be sufferers as he was. Read it:

"I can honestly say that I owe my life to PERUNA. After some of the best doctors in the country had pronounced me as not living another month, PERUNA saved me. Travelling from town to town, through the country and having to go into all kinds of badly heated stores and buildings, sometimes standing up for hours at a time, playing my trade as a auctioneer. It is only natural that I had colds frequently. I paid little attention to it, until last December when I contracted a severe case which brought me to my death bed settled on my lungs. When almost too late, I began doctoring, and found out that I had a case of PERUNA. It cured me! so I cannot praise it too highly."

F. F. Robbins, who lives in the Copper Creek section, lost his residence and most of its contents by fire about two weeks ago, the loss above the insurance was about $1000. E. J. Hamm, of New York, is with his father and other relatives here this week.—Mrs. James Meredith and little daughter, Virginia, were with her mother, Mrs. Oaks, at Stanford during the week.—

The residence of Mrs. John Blanton, near Gum Sulphur, was destroyed by fire Saturday morning and but little of the contents were saved. Besides Mrs. Blanton, Mr. and Mrs. Mat Eaton lived there. No insurance—E. B. Newland, who has a good position with the United States Coal and Coke Co., at Lynch, Hazard, was with homefolks here Sunday and Monday—Mr. and Mrs. J. Thos. Cherry, Mr. and Mrs. Frazier Hurt and son, Master Frazier Hurt, Jr., Mrs. Kate Egger and Mrs. Ed Gooch, of Crab Orchard, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Robins Sunday afternoon.—Wilson Masters was in Corbin during the week.—Mr. and Mrs. U. B. Cass, of Phillipsburg were with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Cummins, in the Quail section over Sunday.—C. H. Frith sold a tract of 75 acres of land near Gum Sulphur to W. F. Engle, of Corbin, for $450.00—Misses Susie Hicks and Elina Frith left Monday for an extended visit to Danville, Lebanon Junction and Lexington.—Mrs. H. E. Christie is with Mr. and Mrs. John Pike in Lebanon Junction this week—C. H. Frith sold the Frith Roller Mill and lot to S. L. Cummins, of Crab Orchard, last week for $2600.00. This is good property and sold for less than its worth. A vacant lot adjoining the property of the Citizens Bank and Mrs. J. M. Adams is cheap at $1000.00. Mr. Cummins will put this machinery in first class condition and will be ready to take care of the first wheat offered for sale. It looks like there are better times for Brodhead in the near future. The Riddle mill that sold a few days ago for $5000.00 to Laws and McBee will be operated to its full capacity after new wheat comes in, and it looks like there will be no shortage in the staff of life in future here.—Dr. W. J. Edmiston and S. L. Cummins were here Sunday afternoon.—Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Francisco and family, recently from Evarts, Ky., are here this week, and we understand have purchased the property belonging to J. J. Smith for $500.—Edd Smith and A. E. Albright were in Stanford Tuesday.—Miss Mae Farmer, of Louisville is visiting Miss Ada Ward at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sowder this week.—Miss Eila Carson, who has been teaching in Concord, W. Va. for several months, is at home this week.

Locusts Arrive
By Millions
Record Ravages Are Expected

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 6.—It is predicted that the greater sections of Ohio and Kentucky will be swarmed with millions of "17-year cicadas," more familiarly known as locusts, within the course of a few weeks.

This forecast was set forth by the State Bureau of Horticulture after it was notified that the cicada had made its appearance in large numbers throughout Hamilton county and in vicinities surrounding the Ohio and Miami rivers on both sides.

Parts of Cincinnati, the Queen City, appear as though it were in the grip of a monstrous fungus growth. Beautiful trees and shrubbery in the public parks and cemeteries are loaded down with the pests, and residents are fast complaining that the locusts are appearing in their lawns. Pavements in certain localities of surrounding suburbs literally crawling with the repulsive creatures, and in many instances the residents scooped them up with shovels and burned them in heaps.

Farmers in surrounding vicinity are finding ground that has been plowed within the last few months so filled with holes made by the cicada that it resembles a sieve.

Government experts say a drop in the temperature will have little effect upon the insects at their present stage of development.

According to Agent Stone, of the Government Bureau, as soon as the insects get out of their shells and grow strength enough to fly and mate they begin by depositing their eggs on trees and shrubbery, especially on young fruit trees where there is new growth.

The Bureau of Entomology, of the Department of Agriculture, explain the cicada emerges over large areas, filling the ground from which it emerges with innumerable holes, as it swarms over the country side. During the short life of the insect it leaves very decided marks of its presence in egg silts which thickly fill small twigs and branches. The killing of these branches causes temporary harm and a setback to the growth of the tree. The insects mate and produce eggs within four or five weeks which furnish the next generation 17 years hence.

The damage to be expected this season from the locusts could not be estimated by Government experts, although they hold firm in their belief that the visitations and damage would be exceedingly heavy.

Entomologists predict that this will be the worst season on record for the ravages by the insects, as their development has been aided by the hot weather. Treatment prescribed for their destruction include: Pyrethrum or insect powder, used in dry or wet form; kerosene emulsion and solutions of various acids.

THE STATE DEVELOPMENT MEETING

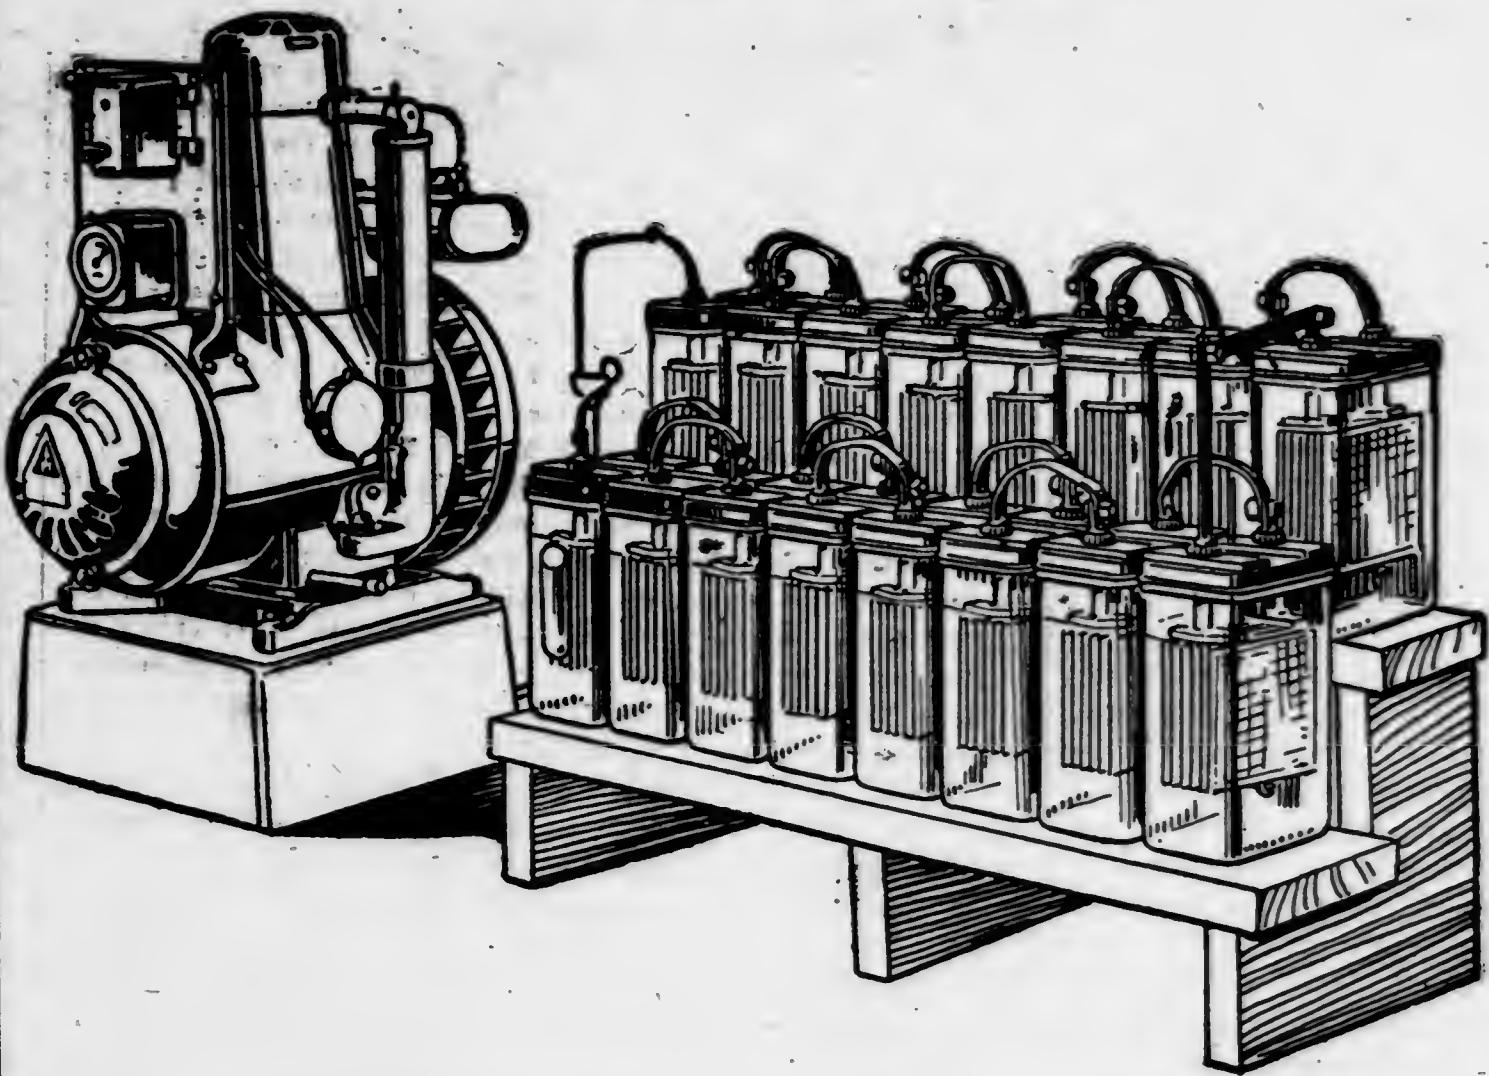

The business people of the State of Kentucky thoroughly realize the importance of all the citizens being prosperous. It is realized today more than ever before that every family in a rural district who fails to use enough energy to support themselves by means of products from the farm is a drain on the resources of the state, and every farmer who produces enough to support his family and one more family of like size is helping materially to keep the money expended by people in this state at home and stop the importing of things that can be produced within the state.

It has been thoroughly demonstrated that the poorest people we have, work as much and are as energetic as the people who are well to do, but they use bad judgement and fail to calculate in a way to make their labor produce the desired results. It is the intention of the State Development Committee to carry on an educational campaign that will help these fellows to use better judgment and make the products of their labor do more for them than to produce a mere living. When this point is attained, Kentucky will take her place with the states north of her.

Salvation Army

For half a century the Salvation Army have kept their contract with God and man. They have been wiping the blood from the faces of men who fought, feeding the hungry and lifting the fallen from the slums of all the great cities. They did effective work and received much notice during the Boer War when they stood by the fighting Tommies on many a bloody field.

It was this war that they had their first experience in this line of work, but during the World's War they received more prominence because the effects of their work were more clearly seen, and the work which they had been doing for the past fifty years was done on a greater scale but this demonstrates their ability to do great things. It was only a larger field for their work. They are now willing to hold their great army intact and go back to the bower and the slums, to go to the depths of Chinatown, to go anywhere and everywhere that distress calls.

Let it be from misguided conduct of an individual, or from circumstances for which the individual is not responsible, it is all the same to them. Their

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with the kidney action and digestive organs. This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs clean and in proper condition, old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relied on to relieve the weakness and disability due to advanced age. It is a standard old time home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is incandescent, odorless, tasteless capsules containing one drachm each. Take them as you would a pill, with a small swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength are the result of this treatment. When completely exhausted continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil capsules are kept in a dark place to prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. Go to your druggist and get a bottle of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original and genuine GOLD MEDAL brand, in sealed packages.

THE MAKING OF MOUNT VERNON.

SOME one has said that "God made the country and man made the city". We would not speak disparagingly of either, for God has made both. It is true that the city is enriched by the inflow of men from the country and is dependent upon the country for food and raw material. Likewise is the country dependent upon the other.

Much has been said and written about the beauty and glory of the country-side. But what of our city, still in the process of the making? In the making of a city the beautiful should be developed, not merely that we may boast of its grandeur, but for the cultured effect of the beautiful upon the mind and spirit. We should develop beautiful streets, buildings, parks, homes and scenery.

Then the city should be filled with people interested in the good of others. There should be no clashing of classes, but a people who have learned the secret of burden-bearing, ready to rejoice with them that weep, a city where all men realize that God is the common father and each man and brother and neighbor of every other. The community spirit should be developed, for without it no city can hope to prosper. The citizens of Mount Vernon should be organized to look out for and obtain industries of every kind. The energies of our people must be combined with our own and other capital to bring about a better industrial condition. We should think of our city as a home and not any particular lot within it. We should develop that spirit that is thoughtful of other homes as well as its own.

We should build a city where human life is valued along with material riches. Many cities throughout the world are known by the product of their factories. We should have a city that is willing to stake its reputation upon the quality of men and women that it produces. What are brick and steel, shoes and money compared with the stuff of which real manhood and womanhood are made?

In the beginning of the building of a city we must banish the evil, for we cannot hope to build well unless we do. We do not attempt to erect a great building without first clearing the ground of all incumbrance. In every community you will find at least three classes of citizens, those who are willing to fight evil and suffer the consequences; those who foster and promote evil, because from this they have their living, and the class that is indifferent and cowardly and to them it matters not.

Let us offer some positive and constructive suggestions with reference to Mount Vernon. We can build the right kind of city encouraging good in every form, develop our home life, for it has been said that no nation can rise higher than the level of its home life. We should encourage the owning and building of homes and the better plan of building them. How much more attractive and alluring is a community in which the houses are built at a greater height from the ground, at a regulated and standard distance from the sidewalk, and the grounds are uniformly kept.

We should look to the development of the public schools. It is here that our boys and girls receive their first and lasting impression of community life. Let us pay our teachers an honest living wage so as to hold the most capable and efficient teachers in our schools, teachers who will co-operate with the residents of the community in an effort to better conditions generally.

We should give adequate attention to our churches. Our people can be more accurately judged and their real worth estimated by their church buildings and attendance than most anything else. When a city loses sight of its religion, it suffers in its morals and when its morals are lax, every other interest deteriorates. And again, churches in our cities greatly enhance the value of our property.

In the making of our city, we would promote good in business. Our business must be conducted for the benefit of all, the man who works, the man who controls and the man that buys. Our business men should take the lead in every movement for the betterment, up-building and beautifying of our town. It will redound to their own interests. Business should be conducted on a plane that will give every man a square deal.

Let us not blame fate or others if the morals of our city are degraded, if the officers do not enforce the law or if we are not progressing intellectually and materially as we should. Let us blame ourselves. Do we want our city beautiful, filled with people whose lives are guided by the altruistic motives, whose hearts are filled with the community spirit, where the city's most glorious output is the kind and quality of its men and women, where its commercial interests are united for the benefit of all? Then let each man put his man a square deal.

At about one-half its actual value. It is right on railroad and railroad station on place. The Dixie Highway runs through it, making it an ideal subdivision. All good limestone land and 600 acres cleared and over 500 acres of this in grass. About 50 acres of fine bottoms as you can find anywhere, in corn and meadow. 80 acres in oats sowed to grass with a good stand. Several acres in alfalfa. About 200 acres of this farm will raise good tobacco. This place has an extra large barn, two story 50x72, concrete foundation and several concrete troughs right in barn for stock, piped from a splendid spring, any number of stalls and places to feed cattle; the second story is 31 feet from floor to roof; large concrete silo 45x14. This barn and silo could not be put up today for $4,000.00. This place also has a number of smaller barns. It has 23 houses, one of which is two story of six rooms, halls, porches, metal roof etc. The place is splendidly watered. Any number of fine springs as ever came out of the earth, ponds and 7 or 8 wells. Well fenced and nice large orchard. It is an ideal stock farm and a money maker. There goes with this place one blizzard silage cutter, grass seeder, lime spreader, and all ordinary farming tools. And also for immediate delivery all the growing crops on the place go with it. COME AND SEE THE NEW CHANDLER TOURING CAR

Most Beautiful Big-Car Offering of the Season, and the Price is Only $1795

THE new Chandler touring model is here. We have waited for it. Old Chandler owners have waited for it. It's here now and we are all proud and happy.

The Chandler of the past has had splendid bodies, but the new Chandler touring car even surpasses its immediate fore-runner in beauty of line, in bigness, in comfort of its cushioning, in the nicety of its custom-like workmanship and in its lustrous finish.

The new Chandler Touring is a big car. Its high hood and radiator, its broad cowl, its wide and deep doors give it distinctive appearance.

And it RIDES--it rides like a dream

Nothing has been cut out to permit the delivery of this fine big touring car at the Chandler price. Indeed, many little details of nicety are added. The back curtain window is beveled plate glass. The clear-vision side curtains fit snugly and open with the doors. There are detachable rear quarter-bow curtains. There are outside door handles.

Carrying this Handsome Body

The Chandler continues for 1919 all its distinguished mechanical features; solid cast aluminum motor base extending from frame to frame; silent chain drive for the auxiliary motor shafts; annular ball bearings; Bosch Magneto ignition and many other features of design and equipment characteristic of the highest-class motor car construction.

FARMERS COMMUNITY
MEETING.

B. J. Sandman, the advance agent of the Farmers Community Meetings to be held throughout the state this summer, was here on Wednesday evening and met a few citizens and went over the matter with them. It was decided to have a meeting in this county commencing July 14th and lasting three days. There will be a new instructor for each meeting and the various questions bearing on bettering conditions throughout the county will be discussed. A few years ago we would have had some apprehension about getting people from the county to attend a meeting of this kind, but we now have no fear about a good attendance, for no one now doubts the advisability of leaving his work long enough to hear discussions of such general importance. The people of this county have been awakened to a realization of the fact that to cooperate and use up to date methods, each and every one will be benefited, either directly or indirectly. To have this meeting accomplish the greatest good,
every one should be interested
and talk the meeting amongst their neighbors, as well as make up their minds to attend every session themselves.

NEW CHURCH:—When Rev.
Joseph W. Hagin was here to deliver that masterly address at the High School Commencement, he showed a keen interest in the subject of the new Christian Church Building for Mount Vernon. He said the Christian people everywhere are waking up to the great importance of having an attractive church building well located. "I am quite sure," said he, "that the people of this good town fully appreciate the necessity of constructing such a building and that they can and will do so. It takes work, but you people have the push and ability to do any thing you once make up your minds to do. It will be joyful news to me to hear that Mount Vernon has started a building that will be a credit to the great and sacred cause for which it will be erected."

Reports from London are that up to 3 p.m. yesterday eleven jurors had been secured in the Mullins case and the full jury was expected by the close of the day and that the trial would begin this morning. Some eighty or ninety witnesses have been summoned from this county.

Thru an oversight last week we failed to mention the marriage of Miss Miranda Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Baker, of the Plato section of Pulaski County and Victor Price, of Level Green. They were married more than a week ago in Jeffersonville and we understand will make their home at Livingston where Mr. Price expects to be in business.

Miss Kate DeBord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. DeBord, of the Level Green section, and William Snyder, prominent farmer of Cherokee, Oklahoma, were married this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Niceley. After visiting his people near Corbin they will leave for Utah where they will make their future home.

FARMERS COMMUNITY
MEETING.

B. J. Sandman, the advance
agent of the Farmers Community
Meetings to be held throughout
the state this summer, was here
on Wednesday evening and met a few citizens and went over the matter with them. It was decided to have a meeting in this county commencing July 14th
and lasting three days. There will be a new instructor for
each meeting and the various
questions bearing on bettering
conditions throughout the county
will be discussed. A few years ago we would have had some apprehension about getting people
from the county to attend a meeting of this kind, but we
now have no fear about a good attendance, for no one now
doubts the advisability of leaving
his work long enough to hear
discussions of such general importance. The people of this county have been awakened to a realization of the fact that to cooperate and use up to date methods, each and every one will be benefited, either directly or indirectly. To have this meeting
accomplish the greatest good,
every one should be interested
and talk the meeting amongst
their neighbors, as well as make up their minds to attend every
session themselves.

Elder James Riddle tells a very interesting bee story. For nearly three years he had not had any bees, but in his yard were three empty stands. One day last week a swarm or possibly a part of the swarm came, lighted on one of these stands and went to work. Later in the day another swarm or the rest of this same swarm came to the same stand and they likewise went to work.
How these busy little creatures happened to come to this empty stand and whether those that came first were all of one swarm, and those that came later, were another swarm or whether those which came first were preparing the way, as some says, for the others which followed latter in the day. Elder Riddle regarded it as a very peculiar incident and a fact that would be of interest to raisers and lovers of bees.

TELLS OF THRILLS WHEN SHELLS FLY

MAN WHO SAW WAR ON FOUR FRONTS ESCAPES DEATH
MANY TIMES WHILE SERV-ING SOLDIERS.

Chicago.—More than 700 Y. M. C. A. workers saw service with the soldiers of the American expeditionary force in the front lines during the last months of the war.

Frank M. Van Epps, seriously wounded while serving as a Y. M. C. A. worker in the Argonne, told of some of his experiences in a talk at the Y. M. C. A. college here:

On the way to France last April on the Oronzo, Van Epps and 56 other "Y" men narrowly escaped drowning when the ship was torpedoed by a German U-boat.

Van Epps was divisional secretary of the Y. M. C. A. outfit. He worked with the Fifth division until the armistice was signed. He was dressed up in a doughboy's uniform when he arrived here. A lump and a kitbag slung over his shoulder containing what is left of his equipment complete his belongings of more than six months' service overseas.

Van Epps saw the war on four fronts in France and Alsace, serving in the first-line trenches on two of them. When the Oronzo was torpedoed on April 29 60 miles off the coast of Wales U-boats "got" two out of a convoy of seven steamships. The Oronzo went down in 12 minutes after she was struck, and Van Epps and other "Y" men lost all their baggage. They were picked up by a torpedo-boat destroyer and landed at Hollyhead, Wales.

In Front Line.
In southern and middle Alsace, Van Epps was in the first-line trenches and at St. Mihiel, when the drive opened; he became a stretcher bearer after his supplies ran out. Getting word to shift to the Argonne, he traveled all night by train, on trucks and afoot, and spent the next three weeks sleeping in shell holes and trenches when he was not at work.

At Madeleine farm, on October 18 Van Epps and Thomas F. Hadley of Iowa, another Y. M. C. A. man, set up shop in an old barn. All but three of the twenty-five "Y" workers went back to get supplies. The barn had been under shell fire for several days, but Van Epps and Hadley decided it was good enough to sleep in. They built a bed of boxes of jam, with a tub of chewing tobacco for a pillow and lay down.

Half a mile back, an American battery was hammering the Germans, and two German airplanes came over looking for the position. They let go two bombs which landed on each side of the barn. Soon came a third, which struck the roof, bringing down a mass of rafters and beams and scattering shrapnel. A splinter was driven through the calf of one of Hadley's legs and a piece of shell tore through Van Epps' thigh.

After dressing stations and field hospitals had finished with them they spent half a day in an ambulance and then were put aboard a French hospital train, where they remained another two days. One of these days was Sunday, so Van Epps, at the suggestion of some of the doughboys, "put on" a service, conducting it propped up in his stretcher.

Soldiers to Study.
Paris.—With the arrival of General Rees from Washington on detail from the war department to take charge of the army educational work, progress has been rapid along the lines laid down in the program submitted by the Y. M. C. A. army educational commission. Text books required to satisfy the demands of the men for instructions are coming overseas rapidly, according to Prof. John Erskine of Columbia University, chairman of the "Y" commission; post schools are starting up at the rate of 40 to a division and groups of officers and men are being absorbed by French and British universities to the limit of their capacity.

General Praises Y. M. C. A.
Paris.—There are some fools in the Y. M. C. A., according to Brig. Gen. J. P. O'Neill of the Nineth division. "Our Y. M. C. A. is everything to be desired," said the general. "Among the employees are some fools. One of them was such a fool that he would not stay away from the front line, and he got so tied up with Boche shells and other projectiles that we were forced to recommend him for a Distinguished Service Cross. That is a sample of the men you have sent to us. Please keep this work up, and whether I am commanding this division or not, the things that you have done will make a lasting impression upon it."

Honor "Y" Worker in Russia.
News that the general commanding the American and allied expedition in northern Russia had recommended Howard B. Merrill of New York, a Y. M. C. A. worker, for suitable recognition of his cool behavior during a surprise attack on the forces he was serving, is conveyed in a delayed cablegram received at the Y. M. C. A. national war work council offices.

Plan Educational Course.
English universities are preparing to welcome the American officers and men designated to take collegiate, special or post-graduate courses there in accordance with the scheme of the army educational commission conducted by the United States army and the American Y. M. C. A.

PROTEST BACK TAXES

Oil Men Feel That the Suits
Brought By Officials
Are Unfair

Thomas M. Owslay and F. B. Tomb Express Opinions in Regard to Attempt to Collect from Interests in Excess of Production Tax.

Lexington, Ky., May 20.—Oil men are up in arms over the suits filed in Estill and Lee counties for taxes on oil wells and leases, including back taxes on land which for years was worth practically nothing and on which the oil men have voluntarily increased their assessments when the land proved to be productive.

During the session of the 1918 legislature a law was passed which provided that all oil wells should be taxed one per cent of the value of the crude oil for state purposes and not to exceed one-half of one per cent for company purposes. Now the auditor's agent in Estill, which has been developed from one of the poorest to one of the richest counties in the state through the operations of oil producers, is endeavoring to recover thousands of dollars in back taxes from the oil men, taxing leases, wells, rigs, every sort of improvement, notwithstanding the production tax of one and a half percent is stated in the statute to be in lieu of all other taxes.

Thomas M. Owslay, head of the Kentucky Oil Exchange, declared today that the attempt to "mule" the oil men in these additional taxes was "unfair and an outrage."

"The oil men practically had the word of the state, expressed through the legislature," said Mr. Owslay. "What taxes they paid should be limited to 1½ per cent of their production. Now along come these tax sharks at Frankfort and seek not only to tax lands and leases at their value but at a value that did not exist in former years. It ought not to be possible to put the oil producers to the expense of such a suit, though I do not think the tax sharks can recover under the law."

"The bad thing for Kentucky is that it shows a disposition to harass those developing the resources of the state and a tendency to violate the promise, express or implied, given the men who have brought their capital and their families expecting to make it their home. It is hardly likely that a jury of fair Kentuckians can be found to give judgment in such suits, but the effect on the state of filing them is such as to prevent men with capital from coming here to invest it."

F. B. Tomb, of the Kentucky Oil Men's Association, discussed the meeting of the Executive Committee of the association at which these suits were considered. He said:

"It was the unanimous opinion of the oil men present that these suits were unjust and should not have been filed. The oil men feel that the production tax they are paying, and paying cheerfully and without question, was intended to be and is in lieu of all other taxes. This production tax on the basis of the present yield of oil in Kentucky, amounts to more than $200,000 a year, a revenue the state is receiving from a source that yielded no revenue previous to the enactment of the law, which the oil men not only did not oppose before the legislature at consented to."

"Not only has the oil industry helped the state in this line, but in furnishing employment to previously idle men it has congested every town and hamlet in the state within a radius of many miles of the oil field; property being in demand at high prices and rentals for offices and homes having been in some cases more than doubled. The native population of the oil fields are more prosperous and contented than they ever were in their lives, land too poor to raise even a fuss on having developed wealth for its owners beyond the fondest dreams of their poverty."

"The committee rightly decided to file these suits to the court of highest jurisdiction and because of the varied ownership of these wells and the stock in the companies affected, this may be the Supreme Court of the United States. The oil men think the tax now being agitated by the auditor's agent or back tax collector is in fact double taxation; that when they pay the production tax, rentals on their leases, extremely high wages, high cost of transportation of supplies to and in the field, as well as paying rentals on leases of doubtful value or that may prove to be of no value whatever, the proposed additional burden is extremely heavy and most unjust, and will tend to make capital in other states cautious about coming into the Kentucky oil field. The oil men, who have come to Kentucky expect no favors at the hands of the people or through the laws of the state, but they do expect equal and just treatment from a business standpoint, and if it is done it will exhaust every recourse to secure it."

DEPUTY COLLECTOR KILLED

According to information received this afternoon in the office of Collector John W. Hughes, of Danville, United States Deputy Collector A. P. Hert, who works under this office, was shot to death and two of his assistants were probably fatally injured in a close-range pistol duel with draft evaders and moonshiners near Pond Gap, in the Cumberland Mountains, not far from the Kentucky-Virginia border, early yesterday according to seemingly authentic reports. One or more of the outlaws is believed to have been wounded, and Federal agents and a volunteer posse are searching the mountainside for Collector Hert's slayer.—Advertiser.

LASTILE

A roofing that adds the virtues of asphalt to the virtues of slate

SLATE is not affected by exposure. Asphalt is long wearing and water-proof. In Carey Lastile Roofing we combine these two materials and thus produce a sheet having the utmost durability and water-proof qualities.

The upper side of Lastile Roofing is composed of a layer of natural red or green crushed slate. This not only makes a very beautiful roof but it takes the wear. Underneath this layer of crushed slate is a layer of asphalt gum. The slate is embedded in this asphalt permanently. Underneath this layer of asphalt is a heavy sheet of the best grade of woolfelt, thoroughly saturated and waterproofed with asphalt. This sheet alone provides far more resistance than most roofs even without the extra layer of asphalt and the crushed slate.

Carey Lastile Roofing wears year after year, presents a most attractive appearance, requires no paint at any time and is so spark-proof that it is endorsed by the Underwriters. The first cost is but little more than that of ordinary roofings and it costs no more to apply.

It is adapted for use on residences, factories, barns, garages and is frequently used as a siding in addition to being used as a roofing. Come and see it or write us for a sample.
